

ARTS ALIVE 2020

Drama Class

(With the current state our world is in, we have needed to make some changes in our Spring Drama Class)

Love to act? Want to learn more?

Arts Alive "Online" Drama Class is an educational opportunity for kids of all ages to help build their skills and learn more about the fundamentals of acting, performing and all things theatre.

The Arts Alive "Online" Drama Class will offer interactive lessons that will help to encourage creativity, learning and fun! It is designed to help draw out the natural gifts and talents of children enabling them to further their acting skills and gain a greater self confidence in performing and public speaking.

When you sign up for the class, you will be sent access to our online google classroom which will have weekly videos, teaching worksheets, resources and drama exercises. Each week more will be added. We will also have some online live instructional time over Zoom where we can have multiple students on at the same time.

For kids that live locally, at the end of the classes we will still try to have a live showcase at some point.

Meet the Instructors

Creator and founder of the Art Alive programming, Sally Hollenbach, has been a professional singer, songwriter, recording artist and musical theatre performer for over 26 years. She has a BA in Voice & Music from Ashland University, has performed in and directed countless shows over the years and is The Ohio Theatre Director.

Rachel Kelly, a licensed music teacher for LP Schools, with a bachelor's degree from Ashland University, is the epitome of theater enthusiast. She has performed in over 20 shows and has directed seven school level performances. Rachel has extensive experience in technical theater, performing, teaching and directing.
